

Powerful Ideas for Languages

with Nadine Fraize

If you are wanting to gain ideas on how to:

- motivate your students in a fun way
- present more popular culture in lessons
- use (partial) immersion techniques
- have fun with grammar
- develop resources on Content & Language Integrated Learning (CLIL)
- create activities using iPad apps and social networks
- improve your students' language skills

...then come and join us!

AISWA will be running another series of whole day workshops with Nadine Fraize during May, which will explore successful activities that European Modern Language teachers are using right now. Each workshop will incorporate a variety of interactive and hands-on activities and provide opportunities for networking with colleagues. Participants of previous years have loved the ideas taken from the sessions that can be applied immediately to classroom practice. (See overleaf for dates and venues)

Nadine has been running successful workshops for AISWA, MLTAWA and AISQ for the last couple of years. She has taught French in WA and was Head of Languages at Hale School until 2000. She is well known for her superb retention rates for Years 11 & 12 in an all-boys school. After returning to Europe, she worked for the University of Aberdeen and Technip UK, focusing on Adult Education and Professional Development. Nadine is now based in Brittany where she co-founded Langues et Terre, a language and training centre, specializing in projects and linguistic/methodology courses for European and Australian teachers of French, English and other modern languages. She is also involved with Powerlanguage, a company which develops plans and resources (covering CLIL) for language teachers and their students.
